HEMP FARM IN CANYON

MEXICAN FOUND GROWING HASHISH PLANT—GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Advised by a Mexican prisoner that a Mexican rancher in the neighborhood of Canada boulevard was growing that variety of hemp known as marijuana, from which is extracted the dangerous narcotic, hashish or bhang, Chief Herald notified Roy Jones, the California state board of pharmacy's inspector, and accompanied him on a trip up the canyon to where the Mexican has his ranch.

There was no mistaking the peculiar stalks and leaves of the plant, of which the rancher, Gilbert Perrez, had a fine crop. When the officers arrived at the "drug farm" Perrez had retired for the evening, but was persuaded to break his slumbers and accompany the officers to Glendale, where he was provided with quarters in the jail.

Perrez was pressed to tell why he was growing this marijuana plant and answered that he merely wanted to see it grow. It is stated that he had a man engaged to watch the crop and presumably to give warning of the approach of any officials. The officers had a rough tramp over difficult ground to reach the Perrez farm, but once there it was easy to perceive that the soil suited the growth of the hemp plant and that the crop had been cultivated with care, knowledge and diligence.

Chief Herald and Mr. Jones destroyed the crop and took with them a sufficient quantity to use as evidence. The crop was nearly ripe and would have proved a most valuable production, as the extract of the plant sells for a very high price. Under the name, cannabis indica, a similar species of hemp is largely grown in India and the Straits Settlements. It is one of the most anciently known and used of the pharmaceutical plants, and figures largely in the Arabian Nights stories.

Complaint was made before Judge Whomes by Mr. Roy Jones and sworn to by Chief Herald Saturday morning, charging Perrez with having in his possession the leaves and flowering tops of hemp, marijuana, in violation of act 2724, section 8, of the laws of California, which deals with the regulation of the sale of poisons. The section makes it unlawful to sell, give away, furnish or have in one's possession various drugs which are mentioned by name.

Perrez, on trial, asserted that he was wholly unaware of the nature of the crop he was raising and that he had no intention to violate the statute. After hearing evidence as to the identity of the plant and its properties, and as to the material facts in the case, Judge Whomes severely reprimanded the accused, cautioned him as to his conduct, fined him $150 and meanwhile suspended the sentence.

ODD FELLOWS WELCOME

Following the regular meeting the Odd Fellows enjoyed a social hour at their headquarters, Third and Isabel, Friday evening and the report comes that they had a "hot time." Cards and billiards were enjoyed and punch and sandwiches proved most refreshing.

There is something doing every Thursday evening at the I. O. O. F. building and subordinate members are always welcome.

THREE AND A HALF ACRES

P. A. C. Moore informs the Evening News that the tract of land sold to the Glendale school district contained three and a half acres instead of three acres, as published in Friday's Evening News. Mr. Moore's bid, from which we copied, gave the number of acres three or more, but it seems there was a later bid that designated the area at three and a half acres.

OLD STYLE PICNIC

In the good old style, with substantial articles of diet and plenty of fun, a merry party celebrated the warm weather in the cool shades of Verdugo park Thursday night. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Kirri, Mr. and Mrs. Foss, M. E. Keifer, Miss Nettie Booth, Miss Edith Booth and Mr. Lewis of Pasadena.

WILLIAM HERMAN WEST NO MORE

WELL BELOVED ACTOR AND POPULAR CLUBMAN OF GLENDALE PASSES SUDDENLY AT HIS GLENDALE HOME, 1427 HAWTHORNE STREET, ON FRIDAY EVENING

This community was shocked this morning at the announcement of the sudden passing of Mr. William Herman West, one of the best known and highly respected men of Glendale. Mr. West was in his usual happy spirits Friday and was apparently in the best of health when he retired Friday night. This morning when Mrs. West went to his room to call him, she found that he had passed on. Mr. West was in the Elks' clubrooms and on the street Friday afternoon and evening, with a pleasant word for one and all, as was his usual custom.

Friday evening he spent quietly with his wife, who had just returned from San Diego, at their home, and he was in a most happy frame of mind. His sudden passing from this life leaves a void in many hearts where his genial and happy personality had found a place.

William Herman West was born in the state of Rhode Island on July 26, 1858, so was a little more than fifty-seven years of age. He had lived in California for four years and four months. Nearly all of that period was spent in Glendale, where Mr. and Mrs. West had a charming and cozy bungalow at 1427 Hawthorne street, where friends were always made welcome.

Mr. West was one of the charter members of the Glendale lodge of Elks, holding the office of esteemed leading knight when the lodge was first organized. Last year he was honored with the highest office in the gift of the lodge, that of exalted ruler, and was a delegate from the Glendale lodge to the grand lodge, which met in Los Angeles last month.

Mr. West was an actor of great ability, having been on the stage for nearly fifty years. During his residence in California he was connected with the Kalem Film company as one of the leading actors. He was working with Mr. Horne's company and was at his place at the studio as usual Friday. He was widely known among those of his profession, especially, and was one of the most universally liked men on the stage.

The remains are at the Pulliam Undertaking company parlors. They will lie in state Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Elks' clubrooms. Christian Science funeral services will also be held there at 2 o'clock, Mr. West having been a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale.

The Glendale lodge of Elks will form an honorary escort to the grave, in Forest Lawn cemetery, where interment will be made.

WILLIAM HERMAN WEST

NOTED EDUCATOR HERE

Mrs. Goldstein of 717 West Fifth street was hostess at a dinner party Thursday evening which included Dr. H. M. Kallen, professor of philosophy in the University of Wisconsin; Attorney Harry Goldman and Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Sachs and Miss Bessie Sachs of Los Angeles. Later in the evening Dr. Kallen delivered a very interesting lecture on the Jewish problem at Hamburger's Arrow theater, Los Angeles.

BRUSH FIRE IN CANYON

Answering an alarm sent in Friday evening at 5 o'clock by G. J. Robault, the fire department of Glendale made a rapid run to the McIntyre ranch on Verdugo road just outside the city limits. The firefighters got on the scene of the blaze, which proved to be a brush fire, six minutes after the alarm had been turned in. The flames were by that time eating their way through the tangled grass in a large piece of acreage and threatening the picturesque trees in that section. Under the direction of H. W. Hollenbeck, who drove the fire engine, the fire was speedily subdued. Chief Lankford also appeared and directed the proceedings. Those who assisted in extinguishing the flames were W. Eves, Roy Pittman, Howard Anderson, E. Smith, H. M. Miller, John Rand, R. Skinner and young Lankford.

The state law now makes it possible to assess to the property the expense of cleaning weeds from lots. The assessment becomes a tax against the property.

THORPE BAND LEADER

The Glendale municipal band had a large audience at the open air concert which they gave Friday evening at the corner of Brand and Broadway. This organization grows more popular as the weeks go by and the announcement of a band concert is a signal for a large gathering on the streets of Glendale. While the band has been doing good work and filling many engagements out of town, the past summer, they have been somewhat handicapped by the members being away on vacations. But the vacation season is now drawing to a close and plans are being made for frequent rehearsals. For the past month the band has been under the leadership of a local man, Mr. Frank E. Thorpe, and is showing progress under his direction. Mr. Thorpe organized the band five years ago and was the director for three and a half years, giving up the work at that time on account of his business requiring his time. Recently he disposed of his grocery store and it is likely that he will continue to assume his old place in the band. The boys are in entire sympathy with the new leader and will do splendid work under his direction.

It was remarked by many that the band has taken up a better class of music and this fact is much appreciated by all music lovers.

A band is a municipal need and Glendale people will show their appreciation in every way of this splendid organization.

Boys and girls are now busy getting ready for the opening of school.

CAUSES OF UNREST IN LABOR WORLD

CHAIRMAN WALSH OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS COMMISSION PUBLISHES PERSONAL FINDINGS—SAYS DISSATISFACTION DUE TO LOW WAGES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Chairman Walsh of the Industrial relations Commission gave out today the following personal findings regarding the causes of industrial unrest. "We find the basic cause of industrial dissatisfaction to be due to low wages, or, stated in another way, to the fact that workers of the nation through compulsory or oppressive methods, legal and illegal, are denied the full product of their toil."

Declaring that the extent and depth of industrial unrest can hardly be exaggerated, Chairman Walsh of the Industrial Relations Commission today announced this finding in a report which was concurred in by Commissioners John B. Lennon, James O'Donnell and Austin B. Garretson. Walsh pointed out the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few, charged oppression and violence by employers and the turning of courts, legislatures and governers to defeat justice. The unrest described was declared to be the latest manifestation of the age long struggle of the race for freedom of opportunity of every individual to live a life to the highest ends.

Congress and the people of the nation were urged to give the findings and conclusions of the report "the most earnest consideration to the end that evils which threaten to defeat American ideals and destroy the well being of the nation may be generally recognized and effectively checked."

BRITISH NAVAL COAL MENACED

FORTY THOUSAND WELSH MINERS ON STRIKE—170,000 MORE THREATEN TO GO OUT—NO REMEDY AS YET

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—While the operators remain obdurate the miners of Wales are just as determined that they will push the coal strike to its limit. They complain bitterly that the operators are making large profits and that they are getting no adequate share of them. Thirty thousand miners today joined the ten thousand already out and a hundred seventy thousand more are threatening to walk out. The recent conference with Lloyd-George failed to find a remedy for the situation. The naval coal supply is menaced.

EAGLE CARRIES OFF LITTLE CHILD

FLORENCE KELLY, AGED THREE, SWEPT AWAY BY HUGE BIRD IN SEATTLE PARK ON PUGET SOUND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SEATTLE, Aug. 28.—An eagle is believed to have carried away Florence Kelly, a little girl three years of age. Florence was with her mother in one of the Seattle parks on Puget Sound. The mother's attention was diverted from the baby for a moment and when she turned to look for her child she heard the sound of wings and saw that Florence had disappeared. By the time assistance was procured, the huge bird had got out of range of sight or rifle, and the distracted mother had to be taken home.

GERMAN UNDERSEA BOAT DESTROYS BRITISH MUNITION FACTORY ON THE EAST COAST

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—To the alarm of the inhabitants of the busy town of Harrington on the east coast of England, a German submarine suddenly rose out of the sea this morning some distance out and moved shoreward till within easy range of the town, which it immediately began to shell. One shell, by a lucky shot, squarely hit the munitions factory established there and blew it up. Other shells set fire to and destroyed various warehouses and munitions storehouses.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS

NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION CLASSES THIS SUBJECT "VOCATIONAL"

More and more educators are beginning to realize that music is as much of a vocational subject in a course of study as any other subject taught in the grades or the high school. "At the National Education association convention in Oakland, which I attended many times," says Mrs. Dora L. Gibson to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, "the subject of music in the public schools was one that was greatly discussed. Formerly music was considered a luxury or at least an extra subject and one that had no bearing on the future life of the pupil. Now it is recognized that in a high school and even in a common school course it is 'vocational.'

"In Oakland public schools there are 2000 children studying orchestral music. A special teacher superintends this work. Ten thousand dollars has been spent for musical instruments, which belong to the school board and are loaned to the children. There are large classes for the study of the violin in those schools. Thence the pupils are drafted into the orchestras and when they go to high school they have all the instruments necessary for an orchestra and have been trained in their use. Leisure is also afforded students in this way to discover if they have any specialty in music and to devote themselves to its cultivation.

"In Los Angeles a similar system prevails, but there the board encourages the pupils to buy their own instruments, furnishing them at cost and allowing their purchase at the rate of, say, a quarter a week. There are more than 1000 children in the Los Angeles schools studying orchestral music. There are three teachers. I believe the Los Angeles method has advantages. It makes the children less dependent and affords an incentive to the grammar school children to persevere with their musical studies.

"In Cincinnati the schools even go to the length of giving private piano lessons. Cincinnati is a German town, so to speak. There is a large German community there and much of the German love of music prevails along with German ideas of its importance and of the methods by which it should be taught.

"It is realized all over the United States that the American schools are only in the earliest stages of musical development. We have to make a beginning, however, and a very fair beginning has been made. The methods in vogue in the schools will create a desire for music.

"In some schools credits are even given for music learned outside of the school itself, but I hardly approve of that. If school credits are given the teaching should be under the eyes of the school authorities. As many of the pupils are studying music with the idea of making teaching their profession, it can easily be seen that it is a 'vocational' subject and should be considered as such.

"To this end the school should lay a solid foundation. It should offer a course in the history of music, harmony, counterpoint and thorough bass, if necessary. I may mention, in connection with the Los Angeles school music system, that Superintendent Francis said at the National Education association that while it might appear to be a little expensive it was really one of the cheapest investments a community could make. It was better to pay for music teaching than for juvenile courts and it had been found that the teaching of music had created a love for that subject that was invaluable in diverting the children from unworthy pursuits.

"It should always be remembered also that the parent of the child who specializes in music is paying as much for the teaching of that child in the public schools as the parent of the child who has no taste for that subject. Parents should not have to pay extra for special music teaching. Music is as much a vocation as any other subject and it should be taught on the same basis. Even for those children who only pursue music as an accomplishment it is as invaluable a training as in mathematics. The teaching of exact 'time' is a mental training that no one should miss. Music is an exact science and I hope to see it taking its proper place in the school curriculum."

Mrs. F. A. Davis, 525 South Central avenue, and her son, Merle, returned from San Francisco Thursday evening. Mrs. Davis spent a very pleasant time in the North with her many friends and enjoyed her visits to the exposition.

FINANCIAL OBLIGATIONS OF WAR

There have been many alarming reports issued by interested parties concerning the possibility of bankruptcy on the part of Germany and Russia as a consequence of the war. It would be foolish to pay much attention to such stories, though there is no doubt that the big financial powers of the world have some feelings of uneasiness when they contemplate the vast indebtedness that must be liquidated some day and "taken care of" till then. There is, however, no truth in reports professing to give inside information concerning secret meetings in Germany and in Russia at which the possibility of such bankruptcy was discussed.

It is not bankruptcy that the big financial powers fear. They better than others know that the nations are solvent and that the money now loaned can be paid. What they do fear is the long, long period that must elapse before the people, out of whom that indebtedness will ultimately be taken, will recover from their present impoverishment.

Both Germany and Russia have enormous assets that can be security for whatever indebtedness those countries are now incurring. Besides that Russia is backed by England and France. The war debts have not yet begun to press on the nations. Germany is finding that the war is costing her $75,000,000 a day. That sum has been raised by loans. There has been very little war taxation as yet, and the kaiser's finance ministry declares that it will fight to the end on loans.

England, too, has held back from placing additional taxation on her people. Every day the cabinet is being urged to levy heavy taxes, but it has hitherto refrained from doing so. What will result from the war, if it goes on much longer, will be an accumulation of debts that will demand a doubling of taxation to meet the interest charges.

Worse than anything else will be the poverty that will confront those who are fighting humanity's battles on the continent of Europe. That poverty will demand special measures to combat it and it is just possible that it may occasion important and epoch-making changes in present social systems of the old world.

PROTECTORATE OVER HAITI

There are few travelers who have been in the West Indies who have not longed for the time when the United States should assume a protectorate over the negro republics of Haiti and San Domingo. The island of Haiti is one of the most beautiful of the West Indies and is endowed by nature with everything that could make life pleasant and comfortable, but the land itself has been made a hell upon earth by human passions and human vices.

Since the days of Napoleon, when the island witnessed an uprising of the slaves against the planters and the perpetration of atrocities that are too revolting even to think of, Haiti has been in a state of chaos. Napoleon sent an expedition to subdue the slaves, but the yellow fever decimated their ranks and they were glad to retire from the plague-infested spot. The attempt to govern the island from the outside was given up and the republics left to their fate.

That fate has not been very attractive to those who believe in a stable government. Left to themselves, the negroes both in Haiti and San Domingo, for the island is divided into two republics, have been guilty of the most reprehensible practices. Voodoism in its worst forms has prevailed as a religion and its bloody and revolting rites have been celebrated in the dense forests of the interior. Nowhere has it been more clearly demonstrated that the negro is not fit to rule himself.

Recently the republic of Haiti has been the scene of numerous revolutions. One government after another has been "elected" and turned out. The turning-out has usually been a more constitutional and effective piece of "legislation" than the "election." Of late days, also, the republic has been exploited by professional agitators anxious to take advantage of the overturn of a government to grab concessions.

It is therefore good news that the United States will in all probability establish a protectorate over Haiti. The protectorate should really be over the whole island. There will never be peace on the island and protection for citizens of other countries nor any progress until Uncle Sam takes the whole island under the Stars and Stripes.

Booker T. Washington, who should know something of the possibilities of his race, declares that the sooner the whole island is under the tutelage of the United States, the better it will be for it. This leader of the negro race in the United States has a very clear outlook on what is going on and permits no false sentiment for his people to shut his eyes to the incessant brigandage and exploitation to which Haiti has been subjected. It is to be hoped that the United States government will soon hold the island with its strong hand.

RUSSIA'S PROMISES TO POLAND

As rival merchants commending their wares to a customer—Poland—Russia and Germany are as vociferous and as persistent as rival showmen in circus side-shows. It is amazing how solicitous both are for the welfare of the much-to-be-pitied Pole. Naturally both countries are aware that the fate of Poland still hangs in the balance. There is nothing definite in the present occupation of Russian Poland by Germany, any more than there was in the recent Russian occupation of Austrian Galicia. At any moment the Russians may be able to begin a "drive" against the kaiser's troops, with more or less success.

Meantime both sides are eagerly courting the Pole. Before the German armies had made such progress in Poland, the kaiser was loud in his offers and promises to the Poles. Now that he practically holds the country in his hand, those offers are no longer mentioned; instead martial law prevails in every Polish city and hints at annexation are being made in the usual manner. That is to say, "inspired" letters from "influential" men appear in the semi-official papers in Germany urging annexation and showing why it is necessary.

If, however, Germany has ceased to perceive any necessity for holding out the glittering bait of autonomy to the unfortunate Poles, Russia has begun to see the need for such a policy and the Russian official papers are now full of promises that Poland will have its own government, its own laws and its own language. How much of all this will remain when the final settlement is made it is impossible to say. Conquerors are proverbially fickle and nations that believe that the end justifies the means are not likely to be scrupulous where a weak nation like Poland is concerned.

More and more it can be seen that if the small nationalities of Europe are to be preserved and their rights to be sacred, there will have to be more bloodshed and a final arbitrament which will probably be quite as sanguinary as the fighting of the past year. No nationality deserves more of the world than the Poles. The nation that saved Europe from the Turks and has given the world some of its finest musicians and poets deserves a better fate at the hands of humanity than that it has enjoyed under either German or Russian rule.

TROPICO

It was truly a most delightful evening that seventy-five or more of the most intimate friends from Los Angeles, Glendale and Tropico of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly enjoyed Wednesday, when this genial host and hostess entertained with a house-warming at their beautiful new home, 345 South San Fernando boulevard. Before the evening's festivities were over some one, who actually knew, whispered that Mr. and Mrs. Kimberly were also celebrating their sixth wedding anniversary and had decided to combine the two auspicious events in one, with which to entertain their numerous friends.

The interior decorations of the home adapted themselves admirably to the beautiful floral decorations under the artistic touch of Mrs. Kimberly. The living-room is beautifully done in bronze green trimmings and here the floral decorations were pink Japanese lilies and pink Cecil Brunner roses, with pretty trailing greenery and ferns.

The lighting system in this large and spacious room, where hospitality was dispersed with such lavish hand, is unique and very artistic. The den is most inviting in its decorations of blue and on this delightful event was very pretty with vases and bowls of the graceful American beauty roses.

The dining-room, which has been finished in green wood trimming and tapestried walls, was resplendent in quantities of red carnations.

The breakfast-room, where dainty refreshments were served, was done in pink and white carnations, which harmonized so artistically with the interior decorations. This dainty French room, with old ivory trimmings, proved one of the most delightfully pleasant of the many handsome rooms in the new home.

Delicious punch was served out on the lawn from a large stump, which had been decorated in English ivy and red oleanders, which was surmounted by a huge beach umbrella, red, of course, from which Japanese lanterns were suspended.

A musical program was presented by Mrs. Clifford Burrier, Mrs. Herbert Miller of Los Angeles, who each rendered piano solos. Sir Francis Booth delighted the guests with several tenor solos, while Miss Ora Miller's fancy dancing proved a most pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimberly were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Otto P. Snyder of Tropico and Miss Mary Hifle, Mrs. Clifford Burrier and Mrs. Jean Saunders of Los Angeles.

Despite the warm weather of Friday, there was a large attendance of the members and visitors of N. P. Banks Post and Corps at G. A. R. hall to greet department commander, H. B. Thompson; senior vice commander, J. L. Blair, and adjutant-general, Mr. Roberts, and members of the council of administration, of which Comrade Robert N. Taylor, Post commander of N. P. Banks, is an honored member.

N. P. Banks Rifles, in command of Maj. J. J. Weiler, met and greeted the distinguished visitors in true military style.

The morning exercises were conducted by Post Commander George W. Sanford and the officers and members of the Post. At noon an elaborate luncheon was served in the large banquet room, which was cool and airy. Seventy-five members and visitors were seated at the first relay with the department commander, H. B. Thompson, and his distinguished staff of officers.

The arrangements of the splendid luncheon were carefully and well planned by Mrs. William M. Crawford, assisted by Mrs. Joseph V. Griffin, Mrs. Burt Burlingham, Mrs. W. J. Hibbert, Mrs. George Friedgen, Mrs. William Hartwig, Mrs. Charles Bruck, Mrs. Robert Danner and Mrs. Louise Purnell.

Following the luncheon all assembled in the auditorium and enjoyed a most interesting program presented by Post Commander Sanford. The audience joined in singing "Marching Through Georgia," with Mrs. Crawford as accompanist. The address delivered by Department Commander Thompson was one of the most masterly and patriotic that has ever been heard from the platform of the G. A. R. hall and breathed of peace, harmony and brotherly love. The eloquent message this distinguished man brought will ever linger as a fitting tribute to the loyalty and patriotism of N. P. Banks Post and Corps.

Senior Vice-Commander J. L. Blair, Adjutant-General Roberts, R. N. Taylor of the council of administration, and Comrade Salada, each delivered brief and pleasing remarks, having as an ever-new subject patriotism and Old Glory.

Mrs. William Crawford delighted all with a well executed piano solo. The program closed by the singing of "America."

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to the Corps, members from Glendale and Burbank uniting with those of Tropico in an interesting session. Mrs. Alma Dutton, senior vice-president, presided, as Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler, president, was absent, she with several of her corps of officers being in attendance at the exemplification of the ritual, which was held in Los Angeles under the inspection of Mrs. Clara Holland, department president.

Mr. H. B. Shill of the Life and Trust company of Philadelphia, Pa., who has been attending the National Bankers' association convention in San Francisco, has been the house guest of his sister, Mrs. R. R. Kurtz. Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz, with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Crawford, have been showing Mr. Shill the many interesting points of beauty in and around this wonderful Southland in several auto drives. A recent trip was made throughout Pasadena and the many attractive places there.

Seed Notes

The life of some people is one grand holiday—nothing to do, nothing to care for—no aim in life save pleasure and enjoyment, while to the most of us if we can secure one or two weeks in the year, or even a few days, relieved from physical or mental strain and worry out in the mountains or at the seashore, we are ready to go back to our labor with a recreated energy and purpose to make the most of our task. No matter how short the relief and recreation, everybody has need of it.

All true recreation should have for its aim something for the body, the mind or the soul or all three, so that upon returning to our daily tasks we are the better and stronger for the diversion. No single person has a right to waste his time in simply loafing. Basking about in the sunshine like a butterfly is not the work of one created with scuh high aims as divinely created human beings. God has a far higher purpose in our wonderful creation. Any kind of recreation that fails to bring some returning good is frivolity.

One of the strangest things in the world to any thinking being is to find so many today pursuing that which profiteth not, notwithstanding the wisdom of the wisest of men, Solomon, who enjoyed all worldly things to the full and finally after a thorough test declared, "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity and vexation of spirit."

The testimony of Solomon ought to be enough if we wish to profit by it. Let no one think he is wiser and can prove Solomon's experiment false.

Finding all earthly things unsatisfying, Solomon turned to wisdom, meaning religion, in seeking and obeying God's commandments as the best exercise that high-born humanity can do, bringing the greatest returns. The religious life, which all can live, brings the best and most pleasurable enjoyment on this side of eternity. Made in the likeness of God, with his holy word as our guide, and his blessed son as our example, no life of real earnestness can be lived in harmony with human dignity that is not carved out along the line of religious principle. With the Lord Jesus Christ as the center of human life, back of our work, our recreation, our planning, our ideals, our whole life ought to be one round of the greatest joy and pleasure, not only here, but expectant, crowned by immortality.

PERSONALS

Miss Dorothy Bonnell, 1550 Myrtle street, has gone to Hermosa Beach for a week along with Mrs. E. S. McKee, 1428 West Colorado street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mariett of Pasadena have been house guests during the past two days of Mrs. Perce H. Curtis, 1420 Oak street.

Mrs. Elmer Hutchinson of San Diego and her daughter, Mildred, arrive in Glendale this evening as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan of the Glendale Academy of Music. Mrs. Hutchinson has come for the purpose of placing her daughter under the educational care of Mrs. Sloan.

Mr. Harry E. Spink, Roy F. Pittman and Merle J. Eckles entertained Mr. Eddie H. Wood at the Portola Friday evening. Mr. Wood is on a week's furlough from the battleship San Diego.

Miss Annie McIntyre, principal of the Central avenue school, has returned from her recent visit to San Francisco, where she made a study of the exposition and visited many interesting spots in the vicinity of the great city. On Tuesday she paid a visit to Leland Stanford university, where her nephew, Mr. W. J. McIntyre, is a student. She also attended the sessions of the National Education association.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Anderson, 629 Scenic avenue, Piedmont, Oakland, Cal., who have been spending some months in Glendale as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hyatt, 1634 West Broadway, left Thursday evening for their home. The Andersons made their trip by auto.

Mr. Richardson D. White, principal of the Intermediate school, leaves Monday for Long Beach for a week's vacation. Mr. White will probably visit other points.

Mrs. Manson, mother of Mrs. J. N. McGillis, was hostess to four ladies who spent the day with her Friday. Mrs. B. F. Hendershot, Mrs. J. A. Norton, Mrs. Arabella Ferguson and Mrs. M. E. Brown enjoyed the day with this most gracious lady and also the nice luncheon served by Mrs. McGillis.

Mrs. L. Carter of Georgia has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGillis for a few days. Mrs. Carter is an old Georgia friend of the McGillis family.

Howard McGillis recently returned on the Harvard from a ten days' stay in San Francisco, where he studied the exposition and also visited his brother, Hill, who is in the naval training camp at that city.

CONTEST CLOSES IN ONE WEEK

The Glendale Evening News subscription contest will close one week from today at 9 o'clock p. m. The position of the contestants has remained the same for the past five days, but there will likely be a change in the position of the names early next week, as there is not a great difference in votes between several of the contestants.

Thus far Morse Preeman has been in the lead, with Miss Cora Hickman a close second. Miss Hickman and her friends have their minds made up that the Maxwell touring car is the prize worth winning and it is that for which they are working. Preeman is urging his helpers to action and he declares he will win the automobile.

Mrs. J. C. May, who occupies third place, has not been saying much, but the indications are she has been doing some thinking. It is not likely she will be satisfied with a scholarship.

Miss Ruth Wright, Mrs. Pearce and Miss Virginia Graham have shown signs of being in a position to do their best work the last few days of the contest. These ladies have enthusiastic supporters.

Master Newton McGillis has gotten into the race in the right manner to occupy a higher position at the close of the contest than he has occupied thus far.

The position occupied by the contestants at 1:30 o'clock today was as follows:

1—Morse Preeman.
2—Miss Cora Hickman.
3—Mrs. J. C. May.
4—Miss Ruth Wright.
5—Newton McGillis.
6—Mrs. Albert Pearce.
7—Miss Virginia Graham.

LAST SUMMER PROPHECY LECTURE AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The last Sunday of the current month Pastor Troy will occupy his pulpit, preaching both morning and evening on timely themes. The study of demons in the light of scripture will be treated at the morning service. The last of the prophecy lectures will be delivered in the evening. Subject, "The Time of Jacob's Trouble." This will be a study of the Jew and the part that great nation among the nations will play in the closing events of the present age. Israel is the key to all prophecy and to watch the psychology of the movements of the Jews is the surest guide to the time of the end of the present order. When the fig tree puts forth its tender leaves, the exact Bible student looks for rapid movement in world events and impending change of scenery.

Bible students of all denominations are cordially invited to fellowship in both services of the coming Lord's day. There is a drawing together of students of prophecy, whatever the name or the past, which is a further indication of the leading of the spirit in these last days. They who are sincere will naturally unite on the fundamentals, so that the world may have a clear testimony of coming judgments. Fundamentals of prophecy is the dominant idea of the ministry of the First Baptist church of Glendale.

The pastor, Rev. E. H. Willisford, will speak next Sunday morning.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

"Satan never takes a vacation" is an expression worthy of notice. Not a single hour of a single day he is not attending to his own business. So as "children of the King" why should we not be busy also at all seasons "attending to our father's business?" The invitation is extended to all to attend the English Lutheran church services in the Seventh Day Adventist church tomorrow at 11 o'clock, when the pastor will preach on the subject, "The Tragedy of the Napkin, or the Man with the One Talent."

NORTH GLENDALE

Services at the Casa Verdugo First M. E. church for Sunday, August 29, will be as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning service at 11 a. m., at which time Dr. Soper, the pastor, will preach on "The Four Kinds of Soil." In the evening there will be a special song service under the direction of Mrs. R. D. Jones. There will be quartet selections and several solos and the choir will render special numbers, after which the pastor will give a fifteen minute sermonette on "Christian Hope." All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Mr. J. Clark and family are among the recent newcomers to North Glendale, having arrived here about a fortnight ago from Niagara Falls, Canada, and have leased a pretty bungalow on Viola avenue near Stocker street, which they have moved into.

Mr. E. E. McComb of 1659 Ruth street, with his brother and family' Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McComb, and son, James, and the Misses Georgia and Lulu McComb, with their house guest, Miss Louise Wright of Lebanon, Mo., formed a merry party who spent the day at Venice and Ocean Park Friday.

LA CRESCENTA

Bishop Lloyd of New York is visiting his sister, Mrs. Woolfolk of Ocean Park, who with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Gibbons, and Mr. Gibbons and son, Clarence Woolfolk, are spending the summer at the Smith ranch near Honolulu avenue.

Mrs. T. J. Dickison of Los Angeles avenue went to Los Angeles Friday afternoon to spend the week-end at her residence there.

The wind and threatening clouds of last Thursday awoke our friend, E. G. Foy, to the fact that his new house will need its finishing roof on it in order to be ready for our September showers.

Judge Spargur is now occupying the new addition to his house on New York avenue. Several men are at work cleaning up the premises.

Mrs. F. M. Scott has fully recovered from her accident and is once more able to do her household duties. Mrs. Scott fell from a ladder while picking peaches a few weeks ago.

Miss Meta Scheuner has returned to her work at Pasadena after spending a few months' vacation with her parents on their ranch on Dunsmoor avenue. Miss Scheuner was the hostess at a lawn party in which she entertained the young folks of the valley two weeks ago.

Work is progressing nicely on Pennsylvania avenue, which Mr. Fusenot is having graded at an expense of $1750 to him.

Mrs. Lowry and son spent the week end at their pretty little garden home on New York avenue.

Mr. Roy Gilbert is clearing his five acres on Honolulu avenue between Dunsmoor and Boston avenues. He is allowing all oak trees and large bushes to remain, thus making a natural park, which will greatly beautify that end of the valley.

Mrs. Helen Elwell of Greely avenue, left for Acaskadara, Cal., the latter part of this week.

PARKERETTES

While for more than a quarter of a century the national association of teachers has been one of the most harmonious and smoothest working organizations ever formed, and could at all times proclaim, "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren (and sisters, too) to dwell in harmony," the climate of San Francisco had a bad effect on the recent convention up there, until it became necessary to quote those timely lines of Dr. Watts, "But children you should never let your angry passions rise."

When we tried to make California dry, a large class said, "That will never do; we have invited the world to our fair and foreigners will not come to a cold-water show." At that time we declared that the fair would do better if only sober people came, but the wide-open policy was adopted and while the patrons of the fairs have been average, it is evident that "satan came also," for the coast is filled with gamblers, robbers, burglars, monte men, purse-snatchers, etc., until the daily press constantly warn against them.

The tone of the country press in its editorial utterances on the Georgia Frank calamity is practically one sided, differing only in degree of intensity and vigor of expression in keeping with the temperaments of the various writers. The awful crime that shocks our entire country by its gloomy pall is lighted up by these valuable moulders of correct public sentiment.

The ordinary school of vice and moral "death trap" is composed of the triangle—the saloon, the wine-room and the gambling den. Any city that has moral stamina sufficient to close out the two last mentioned strikes at the vitals of the saloon, and would close two-thirds of them automatically.
